

CHRISTMAS 2018

December 2018

December gives the Trust an opportunity to wish family, friends and all visitors to our site a peaceful, restful and joyous Christmas and a safe and success- filled New Year.

It also provides a chance to thank, most sincerely, all our donors, supporters and helpers without whom the Trust simply would not survive.

Our photograph by Professor Sir Alan Fersht is of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, founded 1348, and much favoured by family members. The college has three iconic gates through which undergraduates pass. First is the Gate of Humility by which they enter the college, the second, at the centre of the college, is the Gate of Virtue through which they pass daily and the third is the Gate of Honour through which they file only once to reach the Senate House to receive their degrees.

Our picture is the Gate of Honour (c.1557) from Caius Court with the Senate House beyond.

HAPPY CHRISTMAS!
